

Contents

Essays

- 15 György Fogarasi
Blake's Allegory of Tolerance
- 31 Csaba József Spalovszky
"The Book Of eternal brass": The Bible and the Laws in William Blake's The [First] Book of Urizen and Emanuel Swedenborg's The Last Judgment
- 57 Annetta Kavanagh
James Christopher O'Flynn and The Cork Shakespearean Company
- 71 Gertrud Szamosi
Hugh MacDiarmid's Influence on the Scottish Literary Revival
- 83 Zoltán Vajda
Having It Both Ways? Sympathy and Self-Love in Thomas Jefferson's Moral Philosophy
- 93 Katerina Siapatori
"For I Am Nothing without You": Fragmentariness and the Transformability of Archetypal Identity in David Rabe's The Orphan
- 105 Alejandro Nadal-Ruiz
Elements of Carnival as a Mirror of the Protagonists' Insanity in Strangers on a Train
- 115 Zsófia Novák
"There's no cure for the Internet"—Surveillance, Spectatorship, and Sanctuary in Black Mirror

In Honorem

- 135 Mária Kurdi
Professor, Prize-winning Poet, Translator. In Honor of Herbert Woodward Martin

Reviews

- 143 Saleh Chaoui
Claire Chambers. Making Sense of Contemporary British Muslim Novels
- 147 Mónika Rusvai
Anna Kérchy and Stijn Praet, eds. The Fairy-Tale Vanguard: Literary Self-Consciousness in a Marvelous Genre